Yes and No:

European Union

Hezbollah is a global terrorist organization, armed and supported by Iran. Its deadly reach extends to Europe, North and South America, Africa and Asia, and across the Middle East.

Yet, defying all logic, the European Union insists there are actually two Hezbollahs—one “political,” the other “military,” banning only the latter in 2013.

This is self-delusion at its worst and most dangerous, allowing Hezbollah to operate its “political” wing in Europe by recruiting members and raising funds. As Hezbollah leaders themselves declare repeatedly, it is one indivisible organization.

Join us at AJC.org/Hezbollah to urge the EU to end the false distinction, recognize reality, and do what’s right—list Hezbollah in its entirety as a terrorist organization.
